News Release – Stalls 18 November 2009

Festival renews commitment to health

The Festival of the Elements 2010 is now accepting applications from food and craft stall operators. As in previous years, there is room for 40 stalls of each type; this year organisers are particularly interested in finding a wider, healthier variety of food to tempt festival attendees.

“By seeking food stalls from various cultures which are of higher overall quality, we hope both to attract more people to the Festival and to adhere more closely to our goals regarding diversity, health, and sustainability,” says stall coordinator Brendan Egan.

In past years, the festival has drawn more stallholder applications than there is space available, a pattern which the administration expects to hold true for 2010. The application deadline for next year's event is December 23, 2009. The 2010 Festival of the Elements will be held on February 6, with stalls being open from 11 AM to 7 PM.
